

Arts > Calendar

March 14-16: Sean Dorsey Dance, Elements of Nature, Bob Quinn, Justin Timberlake, Wax Poet(s), Greyson Chance, Love & Pride, Nick Mason, Rebozos Mexicanos, John Cusack, St. Patrick's Day Parade, Karl Denson's Tiny Universe

Sean Dorsey Dance's 15th anniversary show "Boys in Trouble," a production with transgender and queer performers and perspectives, opens a four-performance run at Z Space. (Courtesy Lydia Daniller)

By Examiner Staff

THURSDAY, MARCH 14

Sean Dorsey Dance: Headed by pioneering transgender choreographer Dorsey, the troupe's 15th anniversary production "Boys in Trouble" promises an evening of dances that "unpack masculinity with unflinching honesty, from unapologetically trans and queer perspectives." [8 p.m., Z Space, 450 Florida St., S.F.]

Elements of Nature: Opening March 14, running through April 28 and hosting a reception on March 16, the show features Greta Waterman's colorful landscapes blending aspects of Expressionism, Cubism and Fauvism. [11 a.m. to 5 p.m., Museum Studios, Peninsula Museum of Art, 1777 California Drive, Burlingame]

Liz Carlisle, Bob Quinn: The author and subject of "Grain by Grain," about a Montana organic farmer growing and promoting the ancient grain kamut, discuss the importance of sustainability to the future of American agriculture. [Noon, Commonwealth Club, 110 The Embarcadero, S.F.]